KUMO

¯ MODULAR CONCEPT COLLECTION _

Kumo is the Japanese word for cloud. This new collection designed by Lionel Doyen is a light and playful contemporary seating island. This airy sofa concept comes with two modules that can be used in different outdoor and indoor settings, both privately and publicly, large or small.

Kumo invites you to create a personalized outdoor cocoon: its concept with interchangeable covers comes in different shapes and sizes, with decorative pillows, seat and back cushions. The armrests and back supports are easily adjustable and can be moved around, transforming the Kumo cloud into a comfortable sofa or stylish lounger, a lounge chair or cool footrest. Mixing and matching was never this easy!

ELEMENTS

_ MODULAR CONCEPT COLLECTION _

Enciting forms and alluring architecture are the core concepts of the Elements collection. Designed by Gerd Couckhuyt and awarded a Red Dot Award in 2014, Elements is an ultra-modular outdoor seating island with endless arrangement options. The movable back positions, footrests and tables make this island the epitome of serenity and relaxation. A slender strip of illuminating LED lights gives Elements the impression it is floating. The combination of subdued colours and durable materials such as Quaryl® of Villeroy & Boch with a soft touch gives the arrangement a certain prestige. The latest colour, Vanilla, gives the new casual cushions a warmer finish.

ZENDO

¯ MODULAR ANODISED ALUMINIUM COLLECTION _

The Zendo collection, with anodised alumunium frames, elevates lounging to an unprecedented level. A design that brings out the best in us; a seating experience to cherish, both outside and inside. Zendo is the contemporary equivalent of meditation and enjoyment, of atmosphere and ease. A little socialising, a little catching up with friends; pure delight. Extremely tasteful! Look at the fabrics in natural colours (Smokey & Sparrow) and the subtle tone-on-tone stitchings. A feast for the eyes indeed. You can arrange the flexible seating and foot elements exactly the way you want.
